BERLIN CITY GOVERNMENT SLAPS REDS

Resolution Read at Meeting Suggests Four Powers Get Out if They Cannot Reach Agreement

NO CHANGE FORESEEN

Berlin, Sept. 27—(AP)—Berlin's city government today told the four occupying powers today they should get out of Berlin if they cannot settle their differences.

The proposal was in a resolution drafted by the executive branch of the government and read to a meeting of the city council by acting Mayor Ferdinand Friedensburg.

The resolution asked, however, that "so long as the occupation of Germany continues" Berlin should remain under four-power control and that "no one power have any more influence in Berlin than any other."

This was a slap at the Russians, who have been seeking to overthrow the legally-elected government and achieve full Communist control of the city.

The Socialist press claimed today the Russians are throwing thousands of new victims into concentration camps in eastern Germany's intensified purge of anti-Communists.

By WES GALLAGHER

Berlin, Sept. 27—(AP)—The western powers will stand firm in Berlin against the Soviets, foreign and German political circles here predict.

The United States and Britain are expected to throw a mighty effort into the western zone to keep the Soviet-blockaded city supplied with food, fuel and other necessities.

The firm stand and the airlift these circles say, will be the western Allies' answer to the question "what is in the cards for Berlin?"

Now that the four-power talks have broken down.

That question is not for the big power foreign ministers alone. Before a final solution to the Berlin crisis is found, it will hit the pocketbooks of the citizens of the United States, Britain and France, at least. At most it can lead to the deadliest world war in history.

Ordinary diplomacy has failed. Top level diplomacy has failed. Now the United Nations will have a try at it. No one here expects the United Nations can solve it. In fact it is possible that it may wreck the United Nations.

In the confusion of diplomatic talk over trade, currency, finance and the airlift, the real issues at stake can be lost in a maze of subsidiary problems. The main issue is simple enough, although none of the Big Four have been so undiplomatic as to say so in simple language.

The Soviet Union wants to dominate Germany. To do so, the Russians must smash the western German state and its economic recovery. By forcing the western Allies from Berlin, the Russians could undermine the prestige of the west, not only in western Germany, but in all western Europe.

So the Soviets have set out to drive the westerners from Berlin. Meanwhile, the western powers, reviewing three years of compromises, broken promises and constant retreats before the Soviet Union, decided to stand firm.

Thus Berlin has become more than a city of 2,000,000 persons whom the west has promised to support. It has become a symbol of the struggle between east and west throughout the world.

Pennsylvanians Link Arms For Week-Long Celebration

Harrisburg, Sept. 27—(AP)—Pennsylvanians lined arms across the state today for a week-long celebration, honoring their home state.

Communities everywhere within the confines of the commonwealth—from the largest cities to the tiniest hamlets—opened a series of special events, commemorating Pennsylvania Week.

And taking part were industries, civic groups, schools, churches, newspapers and radio stations. Together they planned parades, open house hours, banquets, window displays and a hundred other feature events.

Keystone churches carried the banner yesterday as the Pennsylvania Week observance formally opened. It was church recognition day, and thousands of churches held appropriate services. Clergymen and pastors everywhere took occasion to remind their congregations of the state's heritage of religious freedom.

Moscow's Decision Debatable Question

Moscow, Sept. 27—(AP)—The big question being asked by foreign diplomats here today is: "Will Russia withdraw from the United Nations because of the Berlin crisis?"

They also are asking whether the United Nations will founder on the Berlin issue.

Foreign diplomats stationed here, whose business it is to advise their home governments on just such questions, frankly admit they don't know the answers today.

They noted and commented on the way the Russian press treated the South African threat last week to withdraw from the United Nations.

Urges Adoption Of Count's Proposals

Paris, Sept. 27—(AP)—British Foreign Secretary Bevin today urged speedy United Nations action on Count Folke Bernadotte's recommendations on Palestine. He called it "the best hope for healing the breach" between Arabs and Jews.

Bevin reiterated his country's support for the Holy Land solution offered by the slain mediator "in its entirety" in Britain's major policy address to the general assembly.

In the draft of his speech distributed by the foreign office before he began he warned that "hostilities might break out again" if no decision is taken within the next few weeks.

In his delivery, however, Bevin deleted this statement.

The United States and France also are backing the Bernadotte plan, which calls for recognition of a Jewish state exists and for Jerusalem to be an international city. The Arabs have opposed it and Jews have criticized some parts of it.

GOING TO GET WARMER

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27—(AP)—The weather bureau cheered western Pennsylvanians today with a prediction of warmer weather for the next 24 hours. A low of 50 degrees was forecast for tonight, and a high temperature of 75 for tomorrow. Last night's low was 46 degrees.

Candidates Return to Hard Tours After a Sabbath Lull

By The Associated Press

The two major party presidential candidates returned to political campaigning today after a Sabbath lull in which both made peace pleas.

World peace is "more important than whether I'm president of the United States," President Truman told a dinner of Texas Democrats at San Antonio last night.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said in a statement at San Francisco that America is united on the Paris peace front. He called for peace prayers in the face of the "grave crisis in Berlin."

Twin Victory Ends Pirate Home Stand

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates wound up their home season yesterday by defeating the Cincinnati Reds 8 to 6 and 8 to 5. The second game was called in the 5th because of darkness.

The twin win assured the Pirates of at least a tie for fourth place in the National League and kept them in the run-in for second place money. Ralph Kiner hit his 40th homer of the year in his first inning of the nightcap.

The season attendance total here was 1,517,490, or 233,888, over the previous high-set only last season.

HIGH COURT CONVENES

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27—(AP)—The supreme court of Pennsylvania convened in Pittsburgh today for its fall session with some 62 cases listed for argument. The sitting is expected to be one of the longest in recent years—some two weeks.

COLD WAR IS ABOUT READY TO EXPLODE

Collapse of Secret Talks With Russia Has Official Washington Under Tension

NOTE IS MADE PUBLIC

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—The complete collapse of secret talks with Russia over the Berlin crisis advanced the cold war to a new and highly explosive stage today.

Authorities are frankly uncertain what may happen next.

Both President Truman and Republican nominee Thomas E. Dewey are being kept closely posted while the United States, Britain and France take their case against the Soviet blockade of the German capital into the public arena of the United Nations Security Council.

The failure of the secret diplomacy which the western powers have been practicing in the hope of reaching a settlement with the Kremlin was revealed by the state department last midnight.

At that hour the department made public a 3,000-word note accusing Russia of bad faith in the Berlin negotiations and of creating "a threat to international peace."

Published at the same time was a heretofore secret record of 24,000 words which top diplomats said proves the Soviets are bent upon forcing the "illegal" blockade of the western powers out of the German capital.

Thus it appears that instead of an end to the blockade, which Premier Stalin agreed to on August 23, the world is in for a further, prolonged east-west struggle over the city.

The difference is that from here on the issue will be before the Security Council meeting in Paris with world public opinion as a stake.

Russia's continued membership in the U. N. is in grave doubt. New east-west clashes in Berlin are feared here.

COMMUTER TRAINS ARE STILL RUNNING

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27—(AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad still operated today two of the nine commuter trains it had announced it would cancel.

The railroad acted after the state Public Utility Commission ordered it to keep all nine trains operating. The commission said it wanted to hold a hearing as soon as possible to determine the justice of the company's claim it was losing money on the trains.

The railroads said the PUC order was received "too late" to keep all trains running, explaining crews had been ordered not to report. A spokesman added that it was able to restore only the two trains and would take action by the PUC before ordering the remaining seven into service.

Mrs. Ruth Grigg Horting, state vice chairman, said special efforts to raise funds for the 1948 campaign are being made by women today since "women realize that with recognition goes responsibility."

GEORGIA THIRD PARTY LEADERS ARE BEATEN

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 27—(AP)—Five workers for Henry Wallace's Progressive party spent last night in a hotel, under police protection, after reporting they were taken outside the city and beaten.

They told police that between 40 and 50 men in a dozen automobiles raided their Augusta headquarters yesterday afternoon, kicked in a window and looted and rode them to nearby Grovetown.

STUNTER PLUNGES TO DEATH IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Sept. 27—(AP)—Stunt flier Dick Powell plunged to death yesterday when he slipped while hanging by his feet from the bottom wing of a plane.

As his wife, Margaret, and a crowd of 5,000 watched, the Waukegan, Wis., daredevil crowded out on the wing, hooked his feet in guy wires and hung head down after the plane completed a low pass over the field. The stunt was part of the opening act of an air show at nearby Hales Corners airport.

18 DIE IN COLLAPSE OF GERMAN THEATRE

Berlin, Sept. 27—(AP)—Eighteen Germans were killed last night and nine others were injured when the roof of a Berlin motion picture theatre collapsed.

Tons of plaster crashed into a block of about 80 seats in the Farnet-Kino in downtown Schoenberg in the U. S. sector of Berlin.

The area was bombed heavily during the war and the roof may have been weakened then.

Top Officers Print Paper In New York

New York, Sept. 27—(AP)—Top executives of the Journal of Commerce worked throughout last night in the press room to get out today's issue. At 9 a. m. the press run started over 13 hours late.

The regular price crew of the 121-year-old financial newspaper stayed away from their jobs last night. Managers and editors put on overalls and announced they would operate the presses themselves.

The press crew of nine men refused to work after some claimed their families had received telephone threats. The nine belong to the AFL, International Printing Pressmen's Union.

Others said they were in sympathy with 32 printers and mailers of the paper who have been idle since Sept. 12.

The printers and mailers are members of the AFL International Typographical Union.

After they walked out, clerks, reporters and other editorial employees for a time worked in the composing and mail rooms and thereby enabled the paper to continue publication.

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 27—(AP)—Five workers for Henry Wallace's Progressive party spent last night in a hotel, under police protection, after reporting they were taken outside the city and beaten.

They told police that between 40 and 50 men in a dozen automobiles raided their Augusta headquarters yesterday afternoon, kicked in a window and looted and rode them to nearby Grovetown.

The workers—four women and a man—said they were slapped and roughly beaten before they were turned loose.

Police took the five to an Augusta hospital and placed a guard in front of their rooms after a crowd of several hundred gathered in front of the party headquarters.

The Allied decision to break off negotiations over the Berlin crisis with the Russians and take the issue to the U. N. was announced after two conferences yesterday among Secretary of State Marshall, French Foreign Minister Schuman and Bevin.

The Soviets earlier demanded control over Allied air traffic and a single Russian-controlled currency in the city as their price for lifting the blockade.

The Russian proposal was termed "unsatisfactory," and the western powers emphasized their determination to maintain their positions in Berlin. They reserved the right to take such steps as they saw fit.

ATTACK UPON THREE-MONTHS-OLD BLOCKADE IS EXPECTED TO BE TAKEN UP THURSDAY

Paris, Sept. 27—(AP)—The western powers sent the Berlin crisis to the Security Council today and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin immediately expressed fear it might wreck the United Nations.

In Berlin, a Russian-controlled newspaper echoed his words, saying that if the western powers force a U. N. debate on Berlin "a wedge will be driven into the U. N. which may split the entire world organization."

If such a thing should come to pass and if the "black fury" of atomic war should follow, Bevin told the United Nations assembly, the fault would be Russia's and Russia's alone.

But, he asked:

"It is better to have our difficulties now than to live in a fool's paradise."

A Big Four delegate said the western powers—Britain, France and the United States—expect to open their attack on Russia's three-month-old blockade of Berlin Thursday in the Security Council.

Alexandre Parodi, France's Security Council delegate, said present plans call for handing the Security Council the problem under a section of the U. N. charter which deals with threats to peace and international security.

That means the west is risking a Soviet veto—or a walkout.

The three powers accused Russia last night of threatening world peace by her actions in Berlin. They re-emphasized their determination to stay in the city—an island of four-power territory deep in the Russian zone—and reserved the right to take such steps as may be necessary to do it.

Bevin's speech—so emotional that his voice broke as he called on Russia to "open up the world and let light and knowledge come in"—got a roaring, cheering reception from the delegates.

All the big powers had their chief delegates on the floor for the event. Listening in were U. S. Secretary of State Marshall, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

CONFESSION TO HIGHLIGHT PROBE REPORT

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—The partial confession of a one-time spy will highlight the promised congressional report on efforts to steal America's atomic secrets, it was said today.

This word came from the House Un-American Activities Committee which is drafting the document after a three-month inquiry into an alleged Russian spy ring.

The report is scheduled to be made public some time this week.

A committee source said the key witness was one of the principals involved in the atomic espionage.

He said the witness made "some admissions" and the "essence" of the report is based on this testimony. He described the witness as "cooperative."

Scores of persons, including scientists, professors, top army officers and avowed Communists, were called during the closed-door hearings.

Four more persons were called before the committee today and others will be heard throughout the week in an attempt to tie up loose ends left by previous testimony.

The public report on the committee's espionage study to date was promised by Chairman J. Farnell Thomas (R-N.J.)—who announced last week that planned open hearings had been called off for fear of revealing atomic secrets.

One committee source said the document will contain "shocking" revelations about a "professional group of Soviet agents," aided by "amateurs," who successfully stole atomic secrets.

"It was a complete mission," he said.

"White Paper" Is Being Compiled

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—The state department is using the term "white paper" unofficially to describe its 48-page record of unsuccessful negotiations with Russia on the Berlin crisis.

Undersecretary of State Lovett called the 24,000-word document a "white paper" at his special news conference yesterday.

PARADE NOTES

Here's the alibi for the parade getting started just a little late: probably due to the fact that those in charge failed to anticipate the traffic congestion on Madison avenue between 3:30 and four o'clock — the Guard companies marched from the Armory where they assembled, to their place of formation at Russell street and Pennsylvania avenue — on Madison avenue they were halted numerous times behind slow-moving floats and trucks, hence were about ten minutes late in reaching Russell street. However, the committee appreciated the fact that there were very few criticisms over this fact.

Probably the most photographed person in the parade was Jimmy Potter, of Station WNAE, in the character of William Penn. Pa Penn and his friend Ray Bennett, with the Indian headress, were roundly applauded all along the line.

Veterans in the parade are unanimous in declaring that it was the largest crowd that ever lined Pennsylvania avenue. All agree there must have been at least 20,000 to 30,000 persons along the line of march.

Those caps worn by the committee, division chiefs and aides, without mentioning any names in particular, were furnished by a well known chain grocery store, and Al Minelli, manager, had a big part in making them available. Ships containing the words, "Pennsylvania Week" were over the firm's name, but Al modestly doesn't want too much said about it.

Wonder who those youngsters were in the Division 5—one sitting in a wagon, propelled by a pal from the rear? One of them called into Kinnears' Saturday morning to enter the "fact" by their names were not secured. The wagon was pushed the entire line of march by the ambitious lad furnishing the motive power.

Art Crouse, who returned from New York about three weeks ago much benefited by his course in the hospital there, watched the parade from his wheel chair, at a point near Water street and Pennsylvania avenue, west.

The air seemed a little cool before the start of the parade, for the committee and aides to doff their coats, but many of them were sorry they were wearing sweaters under their white shirts before they had marched many blocks.

All communities were so well represented in the parade it would be unfair to signal out any in particular. Never before, in the history of Warren celebrations, have our neighboring communities been so well represented. That goes for Youngville, Sugar Grove, Sheffield, North Warren, and Pleasant township and Columbus.

It took approximately an hour for the parade to pass a given point, and most of the spectators in the vast crowd were well satisfied when last entries of the 8th division rolled by.

The Warren police department, aided by the State Police, deserve a special word of praise for the excellent manner in which the huge crowds were patrolled, both during the afternoon and in the evening before and after the fireworks display. The fact that not even one minor accident was reported, attests to the thorough job of the officers who worked during the day and evening.

Saturday's show, including the parade and fireworks, cost approximately $1,500, contributed for the occasion by local business houses, industries and clubs. The committee is scheduled to meet

Tuesday evening at the VFW club rooms to close up the celebration books, and according to Bill Yeager, treasurer, it is expected that they will balance.

The committee was amply rewarded for its hard work by the large turnout at both the parade and fireworks, and the fine things that are being said about the celebration generally. The celebration was worked up in the short space of two weeks, considered a record among old-time committees.

Inspiration for the celebration, incidentally, was furnished by a committee from the VFW after the Post had received a letter from the department commander suggesting each post in the state take the initiative in setting up a Pennsylvania Week program, including a parade.

The general cooperation received from residents of the borough and throughout the county, made the celebration, and the committee is grateful for the fine response received from everyone.

The Jaycees deserve a hand for their part in taking over the project of securing the entries. It was a fine job, boys!

All seem agreed that the fireworks were just about the best ever.

Solid masses of humanity lined the parade route from presences street down the avenue and through the business section. Without doubt it was the largest crowd ever to fill down town Warren.

Those exploding shells heard just before the time for the parade to march were fired by experts at Beaty Field by pre-arrangement.

The committee held a short meeting Friday evening in the VFW Post rooms when a checkup showed that everything was set—including the weather.

Old-timers recalled that not any of Warren's big parades during the past twenty years has been delayed or called off because of bad weather.

The crowds were so deep at some points that it was difficult for some of the big floats to pass through the small lanes left for them.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Babe Ruth Story" At The Library Theatre Today and Tuesday

Acclaimed by critics as one of the most dramatic and entertaining film stories ever to reach the screen, Roy D. I. Ruth's Allied Artists production, "The Babe Ruth Story," has been eagerly awaited by local theatre audiences. The picture opens today and Tuesday at the Library Theatre with William Bendix, Claire Trevor and Charles Bickford in the starring roles.

This screen story covers the entire career of the fabulous "Sultan of Swat," with particular emphasis on the baseball prowess which made him the most spectacular player in the history of the game.

"The Babe Ruth Story" comes to bat with scenes of the Babe's early life in Baltimore, Maryland, where his father ran a saloon. It takes the Bambino to St. Mary's Industrial School, where he was taught to be a tailor, but turned out instead to be an outstanding baseball player. The story shows how Brother Matthias, a member of the Xaverian Order, took Ruth out of the ranks of incorrigible boys and guided him to baseball greatness. The action depicts all the thrilling highlights in the career of the home-run king.

Section chairmen have been enlisted and they have reported that the recruiting of team captains has been almost completed. The section chairmen are: Mrs. Carl E. Swanson, Miss Mildred Blair, Mrs. Palmer L. Davis, Mrs. A. J. McDonald, Mrs. E. H. Leffard and Mrs. Kenneth W. Davis.

Mr. Elmquist is highly gratified with the reception the Red Feather Campaign is getting and he is confident that the citizens of Warren and North Warren are fully aware of the fine services given to the communities by the numerous agencies of the Chest, in addition to the work which the revitalized USO is undertaking.

Community Chest services can be carried on only by everybody adopting the Red Feather theme "Everybody Benefits—Everybody Gives," said Mr. Elmquist. It expresses the idea that the man who gives and the man who receives may well be the same man. It means enlightened self-interest, which is the realization that in the modern community what is good for some people is good for all people.

The campaign opens on October 11th and the goal is $51,500, which is $1,000 more than the 1947 goal, the $1,000 being the amount allotted to the USO.

Dance Plans Of Jaycees Progressing

At a special meeting of the Junior Chamber board of directors and the Jaycee dance committee Thursday evening it was decided to go ahead with a Thanksgiving Dance. Of necessity, however, the affair will not be public and admission will be by invitation only. The dance will be held at the Marconi Outing Club with music by Harry Summers Orchestra.

The original plan was to stage a public dance in the Woman's Club for the benefit of young and old alike. It was felt that this would provide an evening of entertainment for young people on holiday vacation from schools and colleges. The Jaycees regret, how-

CENTENNIAL SPEAKER

"The Role of the General Practitioner in Prevention of Psychiatric Disorders" will be the topic of Dr. R. H. Israel, superintendent of Warren State Hospital, when he addresses the scientific section on nervous and mental diseases at the centennial celebration of the Medical Society of Pennsylvania, which opened a five-day session Sunday in Philadelphia. Dr. Frank Buckingham, Tidouste, who is president of the Warren County Medical Society, and Dr. Joseph R. Sugerman, of Warren, are delegates from the county organization. Several other local physicians will be in attendance at the sessions.

ASSISTANCE DECLINE

With the dropping of 365 persons from Pennsylvania's general assistance rolls, the office of Frank A. Robbins, Jr., secretary of public assistance, points out that civilian employment is at its highest point in history. The books now carry less than 40,000 persons for the first time since the fall of 1946. However, with many more seeking jobs than a few years ago, there are not as many places for the older workers as during the war, hence the seemingly large number on the rolls. Warren has 276 cases, including 24 persons receiving aid of some type.

Chapter 16
"S'MATTER?" Buck demanded.
"See that horse over there?" McCabe asked, pointing.
Loomis followed Pat's finger, then he nodded.
"Uh-huh. What about 'im?"
"He's saddled and on the loose. Wonder where 'is rider is?"
They sat in silence for the next minute. The riderless horse finally raised his head and whinnied shrilly. Buck straightened up in the saddle.
"Come on," he said and loped forward. Pat followed at arm's length. They rode up to where the other horse waited, then the animal turned and trotted away.
"I got 'n idea he wants us to follow 'im," Buck said.
Again they rode after the other horse. . . they loped southward for a time, still following, when they went down an incline and pulled up when their guide stopped near a gully.
Buck swung himself out of the saddle. Pat followed suit. Together they trudged over to the gully, peered down. Buck stiffened suddenly.
"S'matter?" McCabe demanded.
"What'd you see?"
Buck pointed to the ground. There was a trail of blood and they followed it silently. A minute later they found the body of John Snediker.
It was about four o'clock that afternoon when Sheriff Loomis, Deputy McCabe and a third man, a stockily-built man with a leathery face and a thick, sun-bronzed neck that looked like a tree stump, clattered into view from the direction of the road that led to town, cantered past the bunkhouse, glancing fleetingly at a group of Circle-A punchers who were idling in front of it, swerved their mounts and rode on toward the big house. George Akers came striding around the house from the rear. He stopped when he saw them. . . at a word from Loomis the three men rode up to him, pulled up directly in front of him.
"Howdy," the Sheriff said. "You Akers?"
"That's right," George answered.
Loomis dismounted. . . at a nod from him Pat and the third man dismounted, too.
"You the Sheriff?" George asked.
Buck flipped his jacket open. A silver star that was slightly tarnished was pinned to his shirt front.
"You fellers sure got here in a hurry," George said. "Don't think it's more'n an hour since I sent one o' my men 't get you. You musta traveled some."
Loomis and McCabe looked at each other.
"You sent fr us, eh?" Buck mused. "Why?"
"My foreman, Phil Martin's dead," the Sheriff frowned.
"Dead?" he repeated. "Y'mean somebody killed 'im?"
"Nope. I think he killed 'imself."
"What makes you think so?"
"He was sprawled out on his belly with his gun in his right hand. There was a bullet hole in his heart."
Loomis looked relieved.
"Then he c'd wait," he said.
"This is my deputy, Pat McCabe," George and the red-headed Pat nodded to each other.
"This feller," Loomis added, turning toward the third man, "this feller's Joe Hanlon, foreman o' the Snediker outfit."
"Don't tell me your boss sent you over t' make me another offer," he said with a tight-lipped smile.
There was a grunt from the Sheriff.
"I don't think so," he replied. "But that don't prove much."
Loomis and McCabe held another brief and whispered conference.
"I s'pose you can prove you didn't leave the ranch till this afternoon."
"Sure I can."
Loomis hitched up his pants.
"We'll go have a talk with your men," he said. "Don't go away. We might want to talk 'em again."
"I'll be around," George said curtly.
LOOMIS and McCabe turned and trudged off: Hanlon, who hadn't said a single word, gave George a questioning glance, then he turned on his heel and trooped away.
"George,"
It was Gay Hollis' voice; he recognized it at once and he turned just as she came up to him.
"George," she said again. "I'd like to talk to you."
"Awright," he said. "Go ahead." "Can't we go somewhere?"
"Reckon this oughta do fr anything we gotta talk about."
"As you like," she said. "I couldn't help overhearing your conversation with those men."
"Don't know that it makes much difference if you or anybody else overheard it."
"I heard you say you needed money."
"That ain't a secret."
"Would five thousand dollars help you?"
"Yeah, I s'pose it would."
"I've got that much and I haven't any need for it."
He eyed her for a moment. She waited for him to answer.
"Where'd you get that much dough?" he asked.
"From my husband," she replied. "It's yours for as long as you need it."
"I see," he said slowly. "Cathy know anything about this?"
"Snediker ain't sendin' anybody fr anything," he said curtly.
"He's dead," George said.
George's eyes widened. "He was here on'y this mornin'." Loomis grunted again.
"We know that," he said. "That's why we're here now."
"What'd you mean?"
"Wa-al," Buck began. "First off, Snediker didn't kill 'imself." There was no comment from George.
"Second, he was robbed."
"I see," George said slowly.
"Akers, Snediker came t' see you about buyin' some o' your cats. He asked you 'n offer?"
George nodded.
"Where did all this price talkin' take place?" McCabe asked.
George turned and pointed.
"Right over there," he said. "Not more'n ten or mebbe fifteen feet fr'm where we're standin' right now."
"Who was there?" the Sheriff asked. "Just you and Snediker?"
"Martin was with us."
"Fr' how long?"
"Fr'm the beginnin' right down t' the time we finished talkin'."
"An' Martin's dead, too," McCabe mused.
"Akers," Loomis said. "I understand Snediker made some threatenin' remarks to you. That right?"
"Mebbe it was the other way 'round," McCabe said.
A frown darkened George's face.
"What's that s'posed to mean?" he demanded.
McCabe smiled fleetingly.
"That you threatened Snediker," he said.
George eyed him for a moment.
"Mister," he said evenly. "I was on'y kno'-high to a grasshopper when I found out that I didn't pay t' go 'round accusin' folks o' things 'less I had somethin' t' back up what I was claimin'. How would you like t' have your teeth kicked down your throat?"
"No. Neither does anyone else."
"Uh-huh," he said. "Where've you got this dough? In the bank?"
"No. It's in the house."
"Hey," he said quickly. "That ain't the place t' keep that much dough."
"I didn't know how long I'd be staying here."
"Oh," he said.
"Will you take it?"
He considered for a moment, then he shook his head.
"No," he said. "Not that I ain't grateful t' you fr offerin' to lend it to me. But I'd rather not take it."
She shrugged her slender shoulders.
"That's entirely up to you," she said calmly. "I've offered it to you and you haven't seen fit to accept it."
"It's awfully swell o' you, Gay, and I won't forget it."
"That's settled," she said.
"Wait a minute," he said and she stopped, looked at him over her shoulder. He came up to her. "I wish you'd get it to the bank soon's you can."
"I suppose it would be safest there."
"Sure," he said. "I know, the doggonest things c'n happen and we've had more'n our share o' them already."
She went into the house. Minutes later she emerged smiling at George as she went past him. He followed her with his eyes. He saw her open the corral gate, saw her step into the enclosure. Presently she came out, astride a horse. She settled herself in the saddle, tightened her grip on the reins, and rode away. His eyes shifted. . . he had caught a glimpse of three men striding away from the bunkhouse. They swerved presently, headed toward the house. He frowned, hitched up his pants.
"Wa-al," he muttered. "This oughta be it."

SOVIET BIG CLUMSY PROPAGANDA STUNT

The Soviet proposal that all occupation troops be removed from Germany in Moscow's latest attempt to harass and embarrass the western powers, wins German support and generally keeps the waters muddied, but, in the opinion of James Thrasher, NEA editorial writer, it surely won't get anywhere. And it indicates that the Russian propaganda inspiration is, at least for the moment, somewhat below par.

Apparently the move was suggested by the Russians' announcement that they intend withdrawing their troops in Korea by Jan. 1. The Soviet-controlled German press then announced that they also wanted to take their troops out of Germany, but that the United States wouldn't go along. The reason given for America's refusal was that the U. S. wants to make its occupation zones into "colonies and armed bases for attack against the Soviet Union."

We don't know just what sort of trial balloon the Soviet propagandists intend their suggestion to be. But it seems quite clear that there isn't enough gas in the bag to carry it very far. It's all too implausible.

In the first place, a Russian promise to remove troops and a Russian delivery on that promise are quite different things. Iraq had to appeal to the United Nations in 1946 to get Soviet forces out after an agreed deadline had passed. And that deadline was set by formal agreement with Iraq, Great Britain and the United States, while the withdrawal from Korea is only an announced intention. Further, Korea was a Japanese-occupied but normally friendly country during the war. It can scarcely be compared to Germany, which is still a potentially strong and dangerous enemy.

Second, any withdrawal of occupation troops before a peace treaty is drawn up would be senseless. It would invite the Germans to do just what they did after 1918—secretly rearm for another try at world domination.

This is a situation which, in the past, Russia has professed to fear. It is a situation which the democratic nations of Europe do fear today. They would certainly resist any proposal to end the occupation of Germany at this time, just as the Russian leaders themselves would if they were sincere.

The charge that the United States plans to use Germany as a base for attacking Russia is absurd. Even if this country had any such intention, which of course it hasn't, there is only one way in which Germany could be used. That would be to mass there as many million American and allied troops as there are millions now under arms in Russian and her satellite countries. It is inconceivable that the Soviets would sit back quietly and watch this happen. And any weaker force would be overwhelmed by the Soviets in no time.

The transparency of the Russian proposal is accentuated by its timing. It came only a day after the news of Russia's plan to permit a militia of 100,000 in her new zone of Germany. That, of course, would be the beginning of a new Gestapo and a new SS, taking orders from the Kremlin instead of the Reichs Chancellery. It would be the nucleus of the "national" army designed to support or actually effect the communization of Germany.

Thus millions of non-Communist Germans would not like this new Russian proposal, either. That would make its unpopularity practically unanimous outside Communist circles.

PENN'A WEEK OBSERVANCE

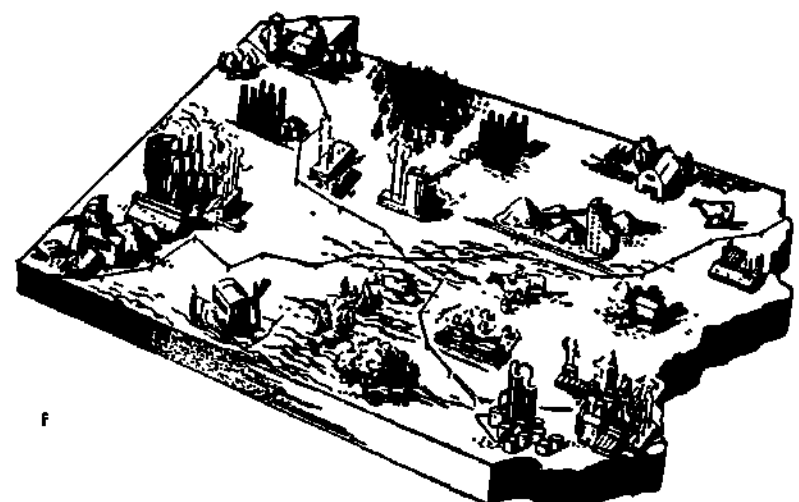

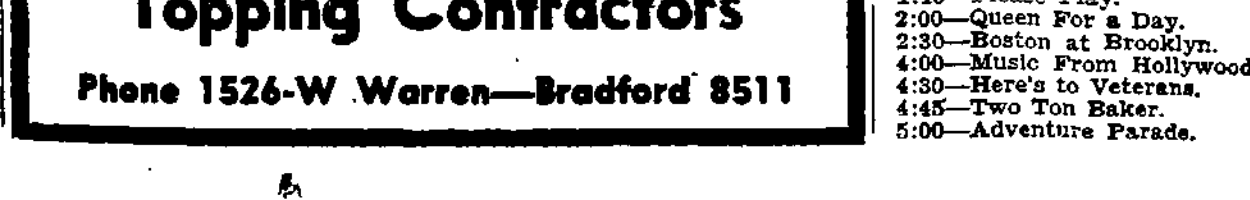

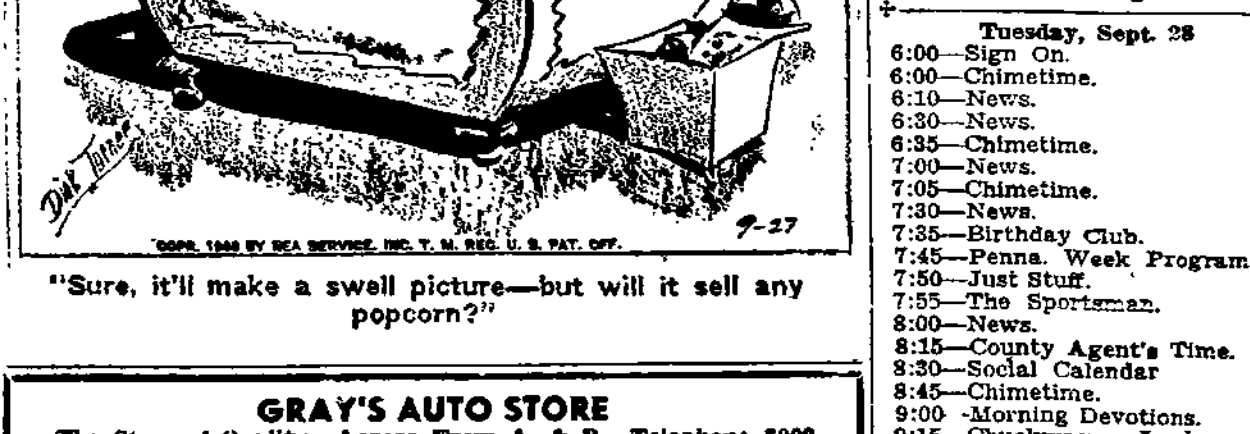

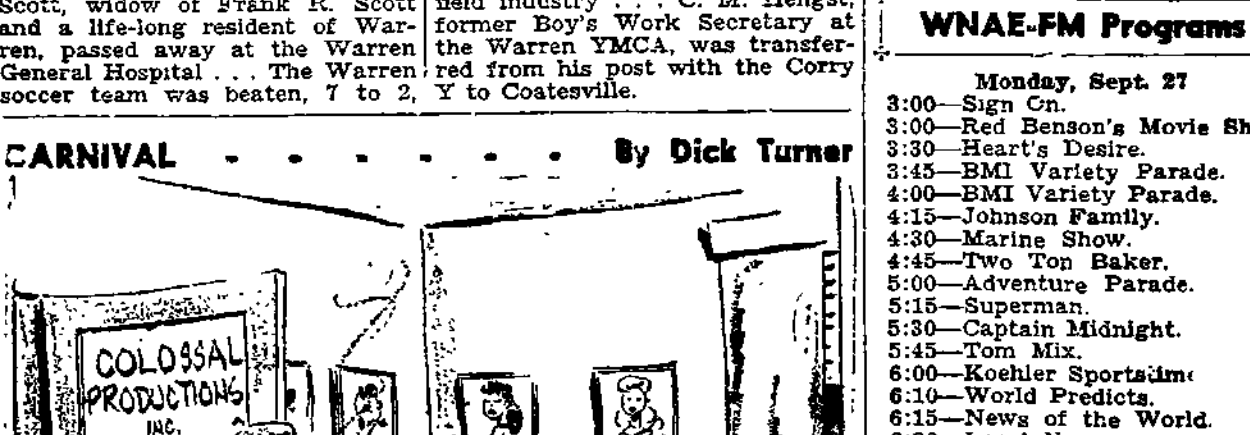

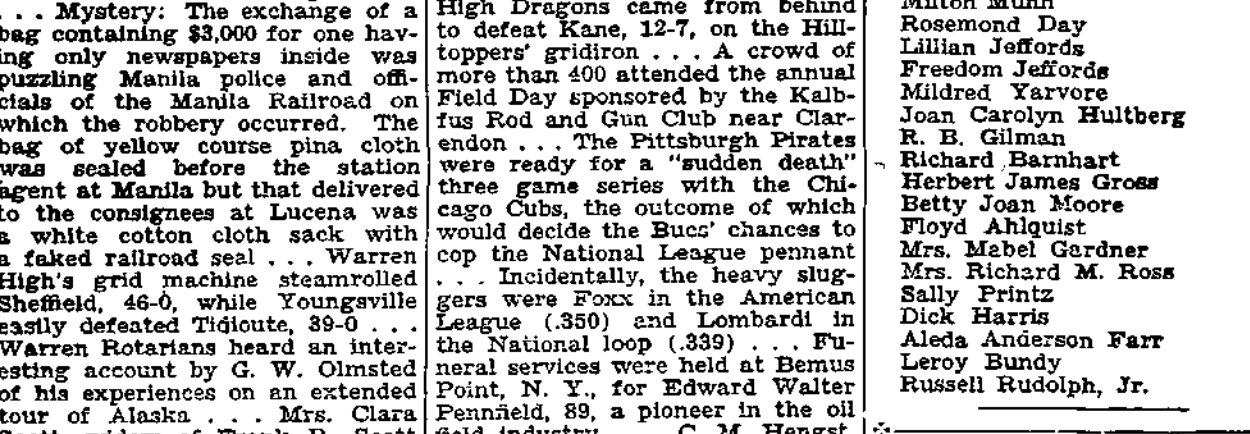

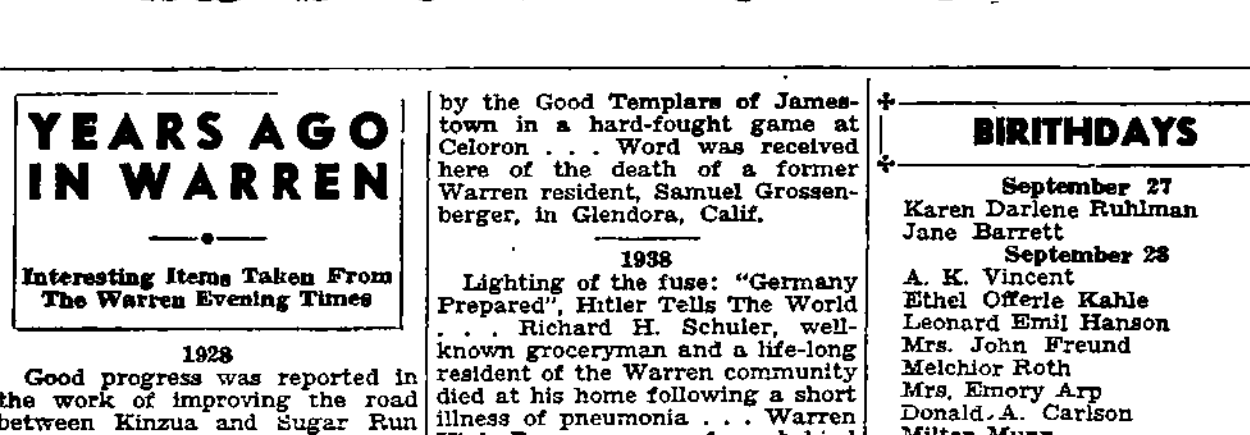

Warren's Pennsylvania Week "kick-off" celebration Saturday proved an event full of exciting entertainment and surprises for the huge crowds that gathered for the parade in the afternoon and the band concert and fireworks display in the evening.

Considering the fact that the committee in charge started on the project less than two weeks ago, the success of the celebration is a wonderful example of what can be accomplished by whole-hearted cooperation, and this was received, not only from Warren citizens generally, but by residents of all rural communities in the county.

Residents of the borough and county, just as Americans as any other section, enjoy a celebration. It had been a long time since one had been staged. Everyone seemed anxious to take advantage of the opportunity to participate, in any way or another, either as spectator, or parade. The many fine comments being heard about the parade, band concert and fireworks should be sufficient evidence for those who gave of their time and services that their efforts were very much appreciated and worth while.

Henry Wallace has conceded the 1948 political pennant, and has set his third party's sights on 1952. Mr. Wallace does not live in Brooklyn. But he has the philosophy of the true and eternally hopeful Dodger fan.

Don't Take Us Too Seriously, Comrades

Leadership

PENNSYLVANIA WEEK is a timely reminder to all of us of the leadership and fame of the Keystone State—in mining and manufacturing, in business and farming, in science and education.

This company is proud of the contribution it has made, is making, and will continue to make in supplying the vital link of communications to Pennsylvania's industries and its people. More than 31,000 telephone men and women, who are collectively responsible for managing, installing, operating, maintaining, and expanding this company's vast system of communications, share this pride.

There are more telephones in Pennsylvania than in any nation in the world, except the United Kingdom and, of course, the United States.

Co. Officials Arrange For 'Open House'

Warren county's own miniature version of the "Freedom Trail", a comprehensive spectator's view of the machinery of local government, will become an important part of the celebration of Pennsylvania Week here when officials and employees of the Court House will observe an open house for all citizens on Friday evening, October 1, from seven to ten o'clock.

Feeling that a knowledge of the make-up of one of the 67 stones in the foundation of the government of our state is, in a relative way, as necessary to good citizenship as it is to be familiar with a knowledge of facts concerning national administration, a cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to inspect the Court House and its doings.

The reception committee will include County Commissioners George Seavy, O. E. Loper and William Olney and the full staffs of all offices will be on hand to welcome and explain any questions pertaining to county government. Light refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Lena Schaefer, assistant probation officer. In passing, it might be mentioned that these refreshments will not be paid for by public funds, the Court House "gang" having passed the hat to defray expenses in connection with their contribution to Pennsylvania Week.

Campfire of Senior Girl Scouts Well Attended

The Senior Girl Scout "Campfire" held at Camp Birdall Monday September 24, 25, and 26 was attended by a group of Senior Girl Scouts representative of 15 communities.

The 60 members of the campfire planned the three-day conference on discussions of vocational possibilities, and the various types of work in several fields; as well as discussion groups on international friendship. The keynote of the campfire was "Internation Scout and Camping", with a sub-theme of "After Graduation, What?"

The two speakers of the campfire used international awareness as their theme, and spoke to the group about current and recent happenings overseas.

Mrs. Gilbert Emerson, Girl Scout leader from Upper Montclair, N. J., who had taken part of American delegates to the World Chale at Adelboden, Switzerland, in 1947, told of the travels to the chale, and the many intensely interesting experiences at the chale itself, meeting girls representing other countries, and the exchange of ideas, customs, traditions and activities among the group.

She also showed a special film from Switzerland, showing the troops of "Eclaireuse" or "Guides" (the Swiss term for "Girl Scouts") in a group of children physically handicapped. These groups, she pointed out, were extremely proud of the work they had done in the fields of Scouting, and enjoyed and participated in nearly every activity that other troops could do.

Gretchen Johnson, who has just returned from overseas service in Calzaburg, Austria, told the groups of her experiences in the Tyrol, and the country surrounding the cities in which she had been stationed.

Dragons Overpower Titusville Rockets, 21-0, For Third Triumph In Three Starts

Warren High School's Dragon gridgers demonstrated Friday they can perform equally as good, or even better, on the night shift as in the daytime.

Playing for the first time this season under the lights (and also for the first time away from home), the Leidigmen overpowered the Titusville Rockets, 21-0.

A crowd of 3500 enthusiastic grid fans including many from Warren jammed the Rockets' Carter field for the battle.

The triumph was the third win for the Dragons in three starts.

Next game on Warren's 1948 card will be another night tilt Friday at Oil City.

As in the Franklin game a week ago, aggressive play by the line-men and alert pass defense in the secondary paid off big dividends for the Blue and White.

Twice during the first period, the Dragons penetrated deep into the Rockets territory, but each time the Gold and Maroon-clads tightened, and took over the ball on downs, once on their own 23 and again on their own 20.

A third drive by the Dragons early in the second period carried the Blue and White to the Titusville 18, but once again the Rockets took over the ball when Ted Shattuck was stopped just inches short of moving the sticks on a fourth down plunge.

Then the Dragon breathed hot fire down the necks of Titusville and notched two touchdowns in quick succession.

Shattuck took Davidson's punt on the Warren 42 and fought his way to the Titusville 44 before being tackled. Chuck Reese reeled off 13 yards for a first down on the Titusville 31. Shattuck found a big hole and threaded the secondary all the way for a touchdown.

Randy White kicked off for Warren on the 12 and returning it to the Rockets' 23. Linnon was held for no gain. Nichols' pass was incomplete. Davidson tried another aerial, but the Dragons' center, Chuck Niederlander intercepted on the 31 and scampered to the Titusville 21 before being downed. Keith Vesling duplicated Shattuck's sprint into touchdown lane on a 31-yard dash. Bill Tannier converted the extra point on a plunge to put Warren out in front, 14-0.

Midway in the third period, the Dragons' struck again. Nichols punted to Shattuck on the Warren 30, and he raced to the Warren 43 before being stopped. Tannier reached the middle of the field on a line play. Vesling made it a first down on the Titusville 45. Shattuck broke through for another first down on the 35. Vesling was held for no gain. Shattuck picked up a yard, then Tannier drove all the way to the Titusville 24 to move the sticks for the third consecutive time.

Shattuck sliced off four yards, and then took a backward pass for four more. Tannier was held for no gain through the center. It was fourth down with still two to go on the 16, when Shattuck stormed through the Rocket defense for the Dragon's third six-pointer.

Vesling's plunges for the extra point was good, putting Warren away out in front, 21-0. Incidentally the three-for-three conversions of extra points marked the first time the Dragons have had much luck in this department this season.

Titusville's best bid for a touchdown came in the final period against a squad comprised mainly of Warren reserves. The Rockets muffed a lateral with the Rockets recovering the oval on the Warren 26. Nichols' pass to Davidson was good to the eight-yard stripe. Linnon picked up a yard through the line. Nichols then flipped another aerial into the end zone, but it was intercepted by Bruce Gross, Dragon reserve center, for an automatic touchback, with the with the Dragons putting the ball in play on their own 20.

The Rockets tried all manner of aerials in the final period in a determined effort to score, but in the closing seconds, Shanshala snagged an enemy pass (the fifth interception for the Dragons) on the Warren 45 and reached the Titusville 46. On the final play of the game, Tannier just missed getting into the clear for another score, but was dropped on the Rockets' 28.

Braves Clinch Nat'l League Flag; Cleveland Edges Up

By RALPH BODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Braves are "in" today and the Cleveland Indians are brushing their feet on the welcome mat spread for the American League's entry in the 1948 World Series.

Billy Southworth's Braves gained admittance to the World Series yesterday when they clinched their first National League pennant since 1914.

The Indians moved a game in front of the runnerup Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees in the tension taut American League race and are on the threshold of joining the Braves in the series.

Cleveland, behind the brilliant five-hit pitching of Bobby Feller, downed the Detroit Tigers, 4-1, while the Yanks dumped the Red Sox, 6-2, in the third game of their cut-throat series.

The Indians, like their pursuers, have only five games to play but, unless they suffer a sudden collapse, Manager Lou Boudreau's boys can't miss.

If the Indians win three of their remaining five games, the Red Sox or the Yanks must take all five to beat out the Indians.

Feller was supreme yesterday. The big right-hander, in bagging his sixth straight win and 18th of the year, fanned nine and didn't walk a batter. Feller's only bad inning was the fourth when, with one out, Vic Wertz, Pat Mullin and Dick Wakefield singled in succession to produce the Tiger's lone run.

A capacity crowd of 69,755 fans watched the Yanks make it two out of three over the floundering Sox at the Yankee Stadium. Tommy Henrich got the Yanks off to a good start when he socked his 25th homer with Phil Rizzuto on the first inning off Lefty Grove. The Yanks sewed it up in the third with two more runs.

Meanwhile, Boston is toasting the Braves—particularly Bob Elliott, Vern Bickford and Nels Potter and, of course, Southworth.

Boston is six games ahead of the runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers. The Braves have six games to play and the Dodgers five.

The Dodgers turned back the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, to protect their half game lead over the third place St. Louis Cardinals.

The Pittsburgh Pirates banged their way within a half game of the Cards by taking a twin bill from the Cincinnati Reds, 8-6 and 8-5. Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner blasted his 40th homer to highlight the nightcap win. The game was called because of darkness after eight innings.

In the remaining American League game, Randy Gumpert pitched the last place Chicago White Sox to a six hit 3-0 win over the St. Louis Browns. Washington and Philadelphia were idle.

Red Jackets Score In Closing Minutes To Beat Catholic Vets

Warren Red Jackets punched across a touchdown in the closing minutes of play to defeat the Pittsburgh Catholic Vets, 7-0, before a fair-sized crowd on War Memorial Field Sunday afternoon.

Bill Unterreiner provided the scoring punch on a line buck from the one-yard stripe. Paul Pollock notched the seventh point on a perfect boot between the uprights following the T.D.

Both teams could have used a little glue on their fingers throughout the first three periods when the play was marred by frequent fumbles and passes slipping through the fingers of receivers.

Neither squad was able to get very far in the first three periods, although the Jackets tried to break the scoring ice with a long range field goal in the second period. Pollock booted the ball from his own 42 yard stripe, but the oval dropped to the ground short of the crossbar.

Then suddenly in the fourth period, the Jackets snapped to life and displayed a brand of ball carrying that had the crowd cheering lustily for the first time in the game.

In the closing seconds of the third frame, Joe Clifford flipped a long aerial for the Pittsburghers, but the Jackets' fullback, Ed Leonard intercepted and lateraled to Siriani, who was downed on the Jackets' 21.

Unterreiner's long pass slipped through the fingers of Pollock at midfield. Jim Snyder cracked the line for four yards and Leonard made it a first down on the Warren 39. Unterreiner sliced off three yards as the third quarter ended.

At the outset of the final stanza, Snyder reached midfield for a first down. Bailey gained a yard. Unterreiner passed to Leonard for another first down on the Vets 39. Snyder reached the 20 to move the sticks for the fourth consecutive time. Warren drew a five-yard penalty for an illegal pass to a lineman. Unterreiner then hit Bailey with a toes, but he fumbled with Leonard making a lucky recovery to put the Jackets on the enemy nine.

Then Snyder roared through the line, and was stopped a foot from the goal. However the ball bounded out of his arms as he was tackled and was recovered by the visitors over the goal for a touchdown. This gave the Vets possession of the ball on their own 20 and ended that scoring threat.

In the matter of minutes the ball changed hands three times, with the Jackets blocking a punt, fumbling, and then getting the leather again on an interception by Unterreiner, who was tagged on the Vets 34. Snyder, needing only one yard for a first down, broke through to Pittsburgh's 18. Leonard hit the left side of the line for five yards. A five-yard penalty against the Vets for too many time out periods gave the Jackets a first down on the eight. Snyder picked up a yard. Then Unterreiner flipped a pass out in the flat to Pollock, who was downed one-yard short of pay dirt. Unterreiner then bucked the line for the lone six-pointer.

Time was running out fast as Pollock booted the kickoff out-of-bounds on the Vets 31. The Steel

Here are the necessary steps to reproducing an ad in the Times-Mirror:

1. After the Ad Man has sold the ad it must be properly laid out and scheduled.
2. It goes to the mark up man who marks the type sizes and styles on it.
3. The Linotype operators set all the machine type.
4. The printer sets the hand type.
5. The compositor puts all the pieces together. Proofs fit.
6. The proof reader makes the necessary corrections.
7. The floor man sets it in the page forms.
8. The stereotyper rolls a mat of the complete page form.
9. The press room boys make a round cast of this page.
10. Put it on the press . . . start the press . . . clean out the nigger heads and sinks on the page.
11. Now the paper is ready for the circulation department . . . it goes either to the newsboy or the Post Office.

Sam Gigliotti, of Pleasant township, a brother of the bride, was best man for Mr. Adams.

PENNSYLVANIA WEEK IS HERE

Pennsylvanians will celebrate Pennsylvania Week September 26 to October 2

Why this celebration in Pennsylvania? Because the more things we do to boost our State, and to improve our own community, the more people we invite here to live, the more industries we encourage to locate in Pennsylvania . . . the better off everyone will be. There will be more jobs, more business, lower taxes, and Pennsylvania will offer more and more opportunity for us—and for our children.

Pennsylvania Boasts Many Advantages —Tell Someone About Them DURING PENNSYLVANIA WEEK

Pennsylvania outproduces every other State in fifty major industries—has one-tenth of all the manufacturing employment and payrolls of all States. Skilled labor is plentiful in Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania alone is a bigger market than some whole nations. Within a radius of 500 miles is gathered 62% of the population of the United States, 68% of all manufacturing industries, 80% of the industrial workers and 81% of the industrial payroll.

Pennsylvania has more farms than all England and Wales.

Pennsylvania has an abundance of raw material resources and produces more power than any other State.

Pennsylvania is bountifully supplied with fish and game . . . trout streams are well stocked, forests abound with deer, small game and pheasants—even bears.

Pennsylvania is beautiful . . . with her mountains, forests, streams. Nature was in her most generous mood when she created Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania has everything!
